October 17th: Feast of St. Ignatius of Antioch

Sometime around the year 107 A.D., a short, sharp persecution of the Church of Christ resulted in the arrest of the bishop of Antioch in Syria. His name was Ignatius. According to one of the harsh penal practices of the Roman Empire of the day, the good bishop was condemned to be delivered up to wild beasts in the arena in the capital city ... What was the Church like around the year 107 A.D.? The Church had already spread far and wide since the days of the apostles. St. Ignatius was conducted over a good part of what, today, is Turkey, encountering local Churches in most major towns ... The geographical spread of individual local Churches, each headed by a bishop, is obvious from the fact that Ignatius was met by delegations headed by bishops from each sizeable town along the route ... The letters of St. Ignatius are even more pointed concerning the role that a bishop held in the early Church. The modern reader may be startled at the degree to which these letters exalt the role of the bishop. "It is essential to act in no way without the bishop", Ignatius wrote to the Trallians. "... Obey the bishop as if he were Jesus Christ" (2:2,1). "Do nothing apart from the bishop", he wrote to the Philadelphians (7:2). To the Smyrnaeans, he gave the same advice: "You should all follow the bishop as Jesus Christ did the Father Nobody must do anything that has to do with the Church without the bishop's approval" (8:1) ... St. Ignatius of Antioch did not know of any such thing as a "Church" that was merely an assemblage of like-minded people who believed themselves to have been moved by the Spirit. The early Christians were moved by the Spirit to join the Church, the established visible, institutional, sacerdotal, and hierarchical Church--the only kind St. Ignatius of Antioch would ever have recognized as the Church. And it was for this visible, institutional, sacerdotal, and hierarchical Church--an entity purveying both the word and sacraments of Jesus--that this early bishop was willing to give himself up to be torn apart by wild beasts in the arena. He wrote to St. Polycarp words that were also meant for the latter's flock in Smyrna: "Pay attention to the bishop so that God will pay attention to you. I give my life as a sacrifice (poor as it is) for those who are obedient to the bishop, the presbyters, and the deacons" (6:1). To the Trallians he wrote: "You cannot have a Church without these" (3:2).

*"Let nothing disturb you,
Let nothing frighten you,
All things are passing away:
God never changes.
Patience obtains all things
Whoever has God lacks nothing;
God alone suffices."*

~ St. Teresa of Avila her Feast Day is October 15th

PILGRIMAGE TO St JOSEPH'S ORATORY

Fr . Hahr wants to know how many might be interested in a Pilgrimage to St Joseph's Oratory during October of next year. This would be a bus trip using a coach from Premiere. The pilgrimage would include Mass at St Joseph's and devotions at the tomb of St Andre, as well as a tour of the Shrine itself, and visits to St Patrick's Cathedral and Mary Queen of the World. The cost per pilgrim is about $100. For now, we need to see how many are interested. If you are, please fill out the coupon below and return it to the office or put it in the collection basket next week.
